Generation Three

3. Eliakim Cory #183891, b. c. 1772 in New Jersey,¹ d. September 1850 in Illinois? .

Moved to Saratoga, New York as a young man.

1817: Purchased 250 acres at Pleasant Bay in Hillier Township where he settled with his family.

Family of Eliakim Cory (Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904, pages 928 - 934.

"Among the names that fill the spacious times of Queen Elizabeth and shed eternal lustre upon the Mistress of the Sea, is the name of Sir Francis Drake. John Drake, the nephew of Sir Francis, had one daughter, who married William Cory, and their son, Francis Cory, was the father of Eliakim Cory, the Canadian pioneer.

"Eliakim Cory was a native of New Jersey, but removed when a young man to Saratoga, N.Y. There he had some experience of farming, in which occupation he must have met with a fair degree of success, for, when making ready for his translation to Canada, he sold out for three thousand dollars. It is related that he was paid in two bills, one of which bore the denomination of one thousand dollars, and the other of two thousand dollars, and that he had some hesitancy in accepting them. Colonel James Pierson, a pioneer in Canada, had preceded Eliakim by some years, and he may have influenced the latter to make the change. However, his used his own good judgement, and, accompanied by his son, paid a preliminary visit to Prince Edward county.

"In 1817 he purchased two hundred and fifty acres in one block at Pleasant Bay, on the south shore of the lake, in the township of Hillier, and returned for his family, all of whom accompanied him to Canada, with the exception of his two eldest daughters, Rachael and Polly, who had married and remained behind in New York. The journey was made in winter with sleighs, by way of Kingston, whence, proceeding along the shore, they crossed over the Bay of Quinte into Prince Edward county. The farm had been partly cleared and a log house built on the clearing by a man names West, whom Cory had bought out. Here the Pioneer labored and prospered during the period of from twenty-five to thirty years, when he bestowed one hundred and thirty acres upon his son, Abner, and sold him the remainder. He then went to Waukegan, Illinois, where his son, David, afterwards came and commenced the practice of medicine.

"The Pioneer had another son, Benjamin Sayre, a physician in Wellington, who, on the death of his brother, David, in 1854, succeeded him in his practice in Illinois, where two of his sisters, Susannah L. and Sarah A., the youngest of the family had married and preceded him. Abner, therefore, was the only son of the Pioneer left in Canada. He served the township in the capacity of councillor for several terms. He is said to have been a very studious man; in politics he called himself a moderate Conservative. He enjoyed the esteem of his neighbors in a remarkable degree, being of an unselfish and considerate disposition. Eliakim Cory died in September, 1850, in his seventy-eighth year, and his wife in 1861, aged eighty-seven. Abner Cory died in 1871, aged sixty-seven, and his wife in 1901, aged ninety-three, His son David P., married Mary A. Osborne, and lived retired in Consecon. In character and disposition he resembles his father.

"Eliza C. Cory, one of the Pioneer's daughters, married Freeman S. Clench, and Eliza Clench, her second daughter, married the late Chief Justice of the Court of Queen's Bench, the Hon. John Douglas Armour, a position to which he was promoted in 1887 from being Puisne Judge of the same court. Rebecca Cory married Pitkin Gross, M.D., and two of her sons are doctors of medicine. Nancy, a daughter of Benjamin S. Cory. M.D., a son of the pioneer married F.E. Kilvert, and ex-M.P., and present collector of customs at Hamilton.

"Catherine Cory married for her second husband J.R. Thomson, barrister, of Hamilton.

"Amanda Cory married first Sydney Baker, and second, Thomas C. Newburn; her daughter, Fanny C. Baker, is the wife of George F. Harris, who represents the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation at Winnipeg.

"Isabella Deacon was a granddaughter of the Pioneer, and also a granddaughter of Thomas Deacon, a native of Limerick, Ireland, who came to this country the latter part of the eighteenth century and held a position in the Commissariat at Kingston. He was also postmaster of Kingston for some years subsequent to 1800. Her father, Andrew Gordon Deacon, was also in the Commissariat at Kingston, and was afterwards collector of customs at Picton. He commanded a company of the 4th Incorporated Militia during the Rebellion of 1837. She married, in 1841, St. George B. Crozier, Doctor of Music, whose father was a Scottish borderer from the vicinity of Liddisdale, Roxburghshire. He went to Ireland in 1798 at the time of the Irish troubles with a regiment of the Scottish fencibles, and afterwards settled there. St. George Crozier first came to this country about 1833, saw service as a volunteer in 1837, was at the affair at the Windmill, and afterwards captain and quartermaster in the 15th Regiment, A.L.I. He also saw service during the Fenian troubles.

"John A.G. Crozier, his eldest son, has, at the time of this writing, been thirty-eight years in the Ontario Civil Service. He retired from the militia with the ranks of major, and holds a medal for the Fenian Raid, 1866. In 1880 he married Harriet Evans, daughter of the late Robert Evans of Belleville, and granddaughter of the late Edward Evans, who was an engineer and contractor and built the Grand Trunk Railway between Kingston and Belleville. They have three children, namely, Lief Gordon, in the Bank of Commerce, Nora St. George and Julia Isobel.

"Major Lief Crozier, deceased, third son of St. George B. and Isabella Deacon Crozier, was for thirteen years an officer of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and retired with the rank of Assistant Commissioner of the force. He saw service during the Fenian Raid as an ensign in the 15th Regiment, and also during the Northwest Rebellion in 1885 with the Mounted Police, and held medals for both. He distinguished himself as a cool and courageous officer on many occasions in the early history of the force, when the "great lone land" was first being opened up for settlement."
