Farrington Family

"Among the families of United Empire Loyalists who settled in Prince Edward County at an early date the Farringtons must be numbered, and all honor be accorded it for the reason, if there were none other, at the founder - the word foundress has not yet been incorporated into the language - was a woman. Mrs. Farrington lost her husband before the family removed here from the then newly constituted United States. She was left with four sons, Edward, Joseph, Samuel and James. It was probably her loyalty to the old flag of Britain that contributed to Mrs. Farrington's departure from the country which was now to have a flag of its own. Be this as it may, she showed marvelous courage and fortitude in disregarding the perils of the way. These she experienced in full measure. If no worse than others experienced, they were at least as bravely encountered and surmounted. The journey was long and tedious in the extreme, and when she arrived, the hardships incident to the settlement in a new country has to be passed through. Her best stock in trade, next to her own dauntless courage, consisted in her four sons, who, though the cause of maternal anxiety and endless care to begin with, would, she hoped, grow up to be her stay and comfort. And so the great experiment of her life began, and experiment which turned out as well as could be expected. Mrs. Farrington's eldest son, Edward, married Mary A., the third child of Philip M. Keller, a pioneer of German descent, and settled in South Marysburg. They had eleven children all of whom, with the exception of Deborah, settled in South Marysburgh, and she married and settled in Athol. Their son, Philip, married Lydia Hudgin.

"A great-grandson, George M., married Augusta Woods and settled in Picton. No citizen stands higher in public esteem and no merchant is more progressive and up-to-date. He has built up a lathe and flourishing clothing and gents furnishing store entirely by his own industry, shrewdness and frugality; and at the same time has taken an active part in all movements for the public good. He has served in the council and organized the town band of which he is president. He is progressive in all his ideas and at the present writing is Mayor of Picton, having been elected to that responsible position in January 1905.

"Deborah, the youngest of Edward's children, was the second wife of William Starks, of a distinguished U.E. Loyalist family. George P., another son of Edward married Eliza Chambers, the daughter of a pioneer of Scotch-Irish descent; and Angeline, another daughter, married Norman Ostrander.

"Passing from Edward, we find that Mrs. Farrington's second son, Joseph, married Lucy Rorabeck. With the exception of James, the youngest son, who finally settled in Michigan, the four stalwart sons of Mrs. Farrington all settled in South Marysburg, and a large number of their numerous descendants are still to be found in Prince Edward County. Others have migrated to other parts of Canada and some have returned to the United States."
