The Kelley Family

Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904; (pages 474 - 477)

"From the very beginning of civilization on the shores of the Bay of Quinte, the Front of Sidney has been the home of Methodism. White's Church is the oldest church in the township, it is said, and like all old churches, it has a history. The building of the church edifice was begun by the Presbyterians in about 1821, but being unable to complete it, they transferred their interests to the Methodists. The land upon which it stands was donated by Reuben White, and early settler on the Front. The Methodism of a century ago possessed a wonderful vitality. It was indigenous to the soil and adapted to the climate. Neither nationality nor social conditions could prevail against it. Methodism was the great panacea of pioneer times, bringing good cheer to the disheartened, hope to the despondent, and faith in an overruling Providence to the hopeless unbeliever. The old cabin builders found all the stoicism they wanted in their daily struggles for an existence; what the conditions of their lived demanded, was enthusiasm and emotional inspiration, and Methodism met this demand.

"The Kelleys may be classed with the founders of Methodism in Sidney. In a figurative sense, the Kelley's and White's Church are one and inseparable, so closely have the members of this family been associated with this old church from the beginning of its career

"William Kelley, the pioneer ancestor of the family, was born two years before the colonies threw off their allegiance to King George, and it was several years after the war when he came to Sidney. It is said that that his father was a United Empire Loyalist *. William had four sons - Stephen, Cornelius, Reuben and John; and two daughters, Hannah and Fanny. William Kelley married Elizabeth White. He died in 1855 in his eighty-first year; and his wife in 1841; in her sixty-fifth year,

"John Rowe Kelley, son of Stephen and grandson of William Kelley, was born on the home farm at Disney, on October 6th, 1834. He was an earnest man of great administrative ability, and for many years was a successful contractor and builder, giving steady employment to a considerable number of men.

"He was a zealous member of the Methodist Church, being a professor and class leader until his death. Gifted with a remarkably fine voice and thoroughly imbued with the musical melody that has been at all times a powerful factor in the spread of Methodism, he was chosen upon his father's death to succeed him as leader of the choir at the famous historical White Church; a position that he most acceptably filled until his death, when he, in turn, was succeeded by his brother, William Warren Taylor.

"He was married in 1865 to Elizabeth Jane Cronk, daughter of Jacob, and granddaughter of Abraham Cronk. Her mother, it should be noted, was Mary Ann Taylor, daughter of John Taylor, the famous United Empire Loyalist and pioneer. From early manhood Mr. Kelley was a consistent and earnest member of the Liberal party, but he had no taste or ambition for the political preferment that would have been so cheerfully accorded to so prominent and well-deserving a citizen. He died, universally lamented on August 20, 1885. His widow, since 1898, has resided at her home on John Street, Belleville. She is a thorough Christian lady, intelligent and well informed and highly respected and esteemed by all who knew her.

"William Warren Kelley was born on May 13, 1841, on lot 17, concession 2, Sidney, where he has resided all his life. He belongs to the old pioneer Kelley family, being the son of Stephen and the grandson of William Kelley. These two were members of the old White Church on the front of Sidney, and Mr. Kelley has followed in their footsteps. The people of Sidney know William Warren Kelley as a leader of the choir at White's Church better than in any other capacity. Outside of the attention that his farm demanded, music has been his hobby, and for over thirty years he has given the old church the benefit of his talent in that direction; so much indeed that his name and White's Church choir are inseparably connected. He is a strong Liberal in politics and keeps himself well posted in the affairs of the country; but office has never tempted him, and he has kept himself "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife." The attractions of home offer greater inducements to a man of his temperament.

"On October 16, 1870, he married Louisa, daughter of Ezekiel Young; their daughter Josephine, married Horace Denyes of the Ernestown pioneer family, and has two children, Cecil and Carl. On the death of Mr. Kelley's sister, who married George Frederick, he adopted her only child, Florence, then an infant, and reared and educated her. She marries Clement French, who holds an important position in Belleville, with the Grand Trunk Railway. Mrs. Warren Kelley died December 20, 1902.

"Mr. Kelley is an enthusiastic member of the Belleville Lodge, No. 81, I.O.O.F, His farm consists of one hundred acres, which is in a high state of cultivation. The house is situated on an eminence commanding a particularly fine view of the farm and surrounding country, and from a sanitary standpoint, is unsurpassed."
