Valleau Family

Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904

"Peter Valleau, the founder of the Valleau family in America, came from France in 1775. He was the child of Huguenot parents, who were pitifully persecuted. Arriving in the American colonies at the commencement of their trouble he subsequently joined the Loyalist forces, in which he was granted his commission as a lieutenant, which rank he bore when, at the close of the Revolutionary War, and in 1784, he landed at Adolphustown with Major VanAlstine's party.

"Records in the Ontario Crown Lands Department show that Lieutenant Peter Vallow, as his name is there written, was the pioneer owner of the two hundred acres comprising the whole of lot 16 in the 4th concession of Adolphustown; and that his patent was taken out on July 10, 1807. He may have been dilatory in obtaining his legal right to the land; for his name appears in the list of disbanded troops mustered on October 5, 1784, and who then settled in Fourth Town, which is Adolphustown.

"A return of the pioneer inhabitants of Adolphustown in 1894 includes mention of Peter Valleau, his wife, two sons and one daughter. Hildebrand and Cornelius, the two sons of the pioneer, were quite young when brought to Canada; they were nine and seven years old respectively. The pioneer was twice married; but while the name of his first wife cannot now be traced, his second was a widow of a man called Sobrisky, whose maiden name was Lazier.

"Hildebrand Valleau and his father moved into Sixth Town, or Sophiasburgh, probably in 1795; and after that date their names are not again mentioned in the returns of Adolphustown inhabitants. They settled on the High Shore, a few miles east of Picton, where they lived and died, and were buried in the old Conger church burying ground. In the epitaph on his tombstone Hildebrand Valleau is described as a Colonel; which shows that he, like his father, must have been a man of some importance and good military standing. He married, on August 25, 1800, Elizabeth, daughter of Archibald Campbell, one of the earliest Loyalist settlers of Adolphustown.

"Archibald Campbell was a prominent man in his day. Besides owning one hundred and ninety acres on the fifth concession, for which he took out a patent on December 31, 1798, he was for several years clerk of the township. Of Scottish origin, he claimed relationship with the Dukes of Argyle; a connection which was gracefully acknowledged by the present Duke, when, as the Marquis of Lorne, he was Governor-General of Canada. Besides Elizabeth, who married the Valleau pioneer in Sophiasburgh, Archibald Campbell had another daughter, who married a member of the Ridout family; was mother of Thomas Gibbs Ridout, and active officer during the war of 1812, and president of the Upper Canada Bank and was grandmother of Lady Edgar of Toronto, wife of Sir James Edgar, Speaker of the House of Commons.

"Hildebrand Valleau has left many descendants throughout the province who hold honorable positions and are held in great respect. A grandson, George E. Valleau, is now in possession of the old homestead, which has already sheltered five generations in a direct line of descent. Another grandson, A. Stanley Valleau, holds the important position of collector of customs and inland revenue at Deseronto.

"Cornelius, the eldest son of the Pioneer Valleau, lived and died in Adolphustown, where he cleared two hundred acres on Hay Bay shore, which were granted him as a United Empire Loyalist. He left many descendants. One daughter, Mary, married Archibald Campbell, brother of Alexander Campbell, second postmaster of Napanee; he was the founder of the Napanee "Campbell House." still a leading hotel. In a letter written to Benjamin Hubbs in 1855, Alexander Campbell mentions the prosperity anticipated for Napanee. He says: "Our village has improved much since you were here, and we are looking out to become the county town presently, with a jail and court house, etc., etc., and with, though not least, a railroad depot."

A descendant of Cornelius Valleau is Marie Valleau, the prominent and popular American actress. Marie Valleau was born in Newburgh and in early life married William G.A. Fralick, who was afterwards on the editorial staff of the St. Paul "Globe"; and after his death she studied for the stage. Her debut in New York was made in 1893 in the play entitled "Old Kentucky"; later in 1896, she appeared at the Garden Theatre, New York.

"Catherine Valleau, a daughter of Cornelius, married Thomas Price, a son of John Price, who took part in the Revolutionary War on the British side, and came from the region of the Hudson River to Adolphustown before the year 1800. Of the children of Thomas Price may be mentioned, Cornelius Valleau Price, County Circuit Court Judge of Kingston, who was born in the township of Camden in 1837. Educated at the Newburgh Grammar School, he graduated L.L.B. at Queen's University, 1863, and was called to the Bar in 1865. He practiced his profession in Kingston in partnership with Justice Britton, and was appointed Judge of the County of Frontenac (vice Burrows, resigned), by the Earl of Dufferin, May 25th, 1878, and as a Surrogate Judge of the Maritime Court of Ontario by the Marquis of Lorne, March 3rd, 1879. He is a trustee of the Kingston Collegiate Institute, a governor of the General Hospital and president of the Ontario Building and Savings Society, Kingston."

Peter was granted U.E. status 22 JUN 1799, on Provision List, 1786 by order of the Executive Council. See "The Old United Empire Loyalists List", Appendix B, Milton Rubincam, 1969.
